

Information to the demanded Declaration of Raw Material Compliance about animal testing

According to our state of knowledge for the production of the raw material and our finished product honey, testing of properties or application using animal testing is not necessary.

We like to point out that ALFRU GmbH does not request any kind of animal testing from our raw material suppliers.

However, we cannot give a guarantee for our raw material suppliers in general, because the product is not complete within our sphere of influence.

We are able to assure that we do no animal testing in our own production facility.
